WHAT IS A STORY?

This is cool and all, but what the heck does this mean? We're programmers, not writers.

Well, think about it for a second.

WHAT IS A STORY?

When you consider a story is a "set of events (or descriptions of events) that lead to a target destination", then many things fit that description. Things like:

- This lecture
- Oral communications
- A comment online
- A text message / conversation
- An email
- An assignment
- Describing your code change to someone so they can review it
- The code itself
- Literally anything that communicates anything